

SPONSORSHIP PROSPECTUS

2026-2027

President and Executive Vice President

Justin Blake
PRESIDENT

I have the privilege of serving as the President of BLK Capital Management for the 2026-2027 academic year. I am a rising senior at Brown University pursuing a bachelor's in Economics. My professional experiences span investing and operating roles at the Brown University Endowment and most recently the Boston Consulting Group, and I will be interning on the investing team at Alpine Investors this summer. I relish the opportunity to lead BLK into our tenth year, and as we navigate the new normal, I'm excited to share some of BLK's new and defining initiatives:

This year, we have introduced an inaugural class of Sophomore Pods, an initiative that aims to provide targeted recruiting support to talented underclassmen pursuing internships for Summer 2028. This project will be developed in tandem with some of our existing initiatives, including international student-gearred recruiting guidance and recruitment-specific Insight Calls, building upon the launch of our Specialized Pathways program last year in ensuring our members put their best foot forward to secure the offers we know they deserve.

We are also excited to announce plans to conduct a High School Investment Competition. This initiative will allow us to further our engagement with talented students and strengthen the pipeline of high school students joining BLK as a formative part of their preprofessional university experience.

Every year we bring in extremely talented students, and our Spring 2026 cohort is no exception, including 45 outstanding candidates (40% first-generation college students, 3.7 average GPA) from over 500 applications to our Spring 2026 cohort. These numbers reflect both the growing demand for BLK and the continued emphasis our programs place on excellence and inclusion. Looking forward, we are dedicated to maintaining the high-quality standards that are fundamental to our organization.

Best, Justin Blake

Belayneh E. Barkley
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

I am proud to serve as the Executive Vice President (EVP) of BLK for 2026-2027. I am a rising junior attending Morehouse College, studying Business Administration with a Concentration in Finance and a Minor in Sports and Culture Journalism. My professional experience is multi-faceted; I interned at a startup in the real estate marketing space last summer, where I'm now working part-time, and I'm currently interning as a summer analyst at AEA Investors, rotating through their Middle-market PE, Enterprise PE and Private Debt groups. Joining Blackstone Strategic Partners next year as a summer analyst in their Private Equity fund.

This year, we will continue to build on our legacy initiatives, such as the Equity Research Trainee and Analyst programs, as well as our newer Specialized Pathways programs with a focus on converting interest to internships. Sponsors invest in BLK because they believe in our members and what they represent. My goal is to ensure that belief is returned with tangible results and that every interaction between a sponsor and a BLK member leaves both parties more informed and better positioned.

To that end, we are expanding our regional liaison program, building on a successful first year of the initiative, and we are excited to expand the program into the Bay Area. Liaisons will continue to serve as the connective tissue between BLK and the cities where finance lives. More importantly, they will work directly with our sponsor network to create curated in-person touchpoints: dinners, office visits, panels, and informal gatherings that allow students and professionals to engage as people rather than applicants and recruiters. The relationships formed in those rooms can define careers, and we intend to build as many of those rooms as possible.

My second priority is tied to what I believe our sponsors care strongly about: seeing the talent they invest in convert to work at their firms. I'm proud to say we are continuing the career fair portion of our Conferences, allowing our sponsors to connect directly with our highly qualified talent early on during recruitment. We are incredibly thankful for your support and are excited to collaborate with BLK in a mutually beneficial, long-term relationship. It is an honor to serve the BLK community as the 2026-2027 EVP, and Justin and I are excited for the community we can build together this year.

The Pre-Screened Pipeline

12.1%

Acceptance rate across 1,759 applications this cycle

Fall 14.4% · Spring 7.5%

Most recruiting processes begin with volume and work toward quality. BLK reverses that equation. Our multi-round selection filters 1,759 applicants down to a network where academic excellence and professional drive are the baseline, not the exception. Every member you engage has already demonstrated the commitment and capability that recruiting processes are designed to identify. What you gain through partnership is not just access to candidates, but entry into a community that has been built deliberately, over 10 years, across every major finance pathway.

1,759 applications. One screened, sponsor-ready network.

“

We really value the more intimate engagement we receive via Spotlight Calls. It is a great opportunity for us to meet students in a more relaxed environment, to discuss our internship process, and to answer questions directly in a more tailored group setting.

BRIAN DAVIDS

Boston College

Equity Research Analyst

Brian is a first-generation immigrant and Boston College Martin Luther King Jr. Scholar. He began his career with a freshman-year search fund internship, later gaining M&A Advisory experience at PwC before earning a junior summer Investment Banking Summer Analyst role at Evercore. Within BLK, Brian has contributed to multiple stock pitches, strengthening his foundation in valuation, investment research, and public markets analysis. Beyond BLK, he co-founded Black Biz at Boston College, the school's first Black business club, expanding access and community for students pursuing business and finance.

GREG FICKLIN

Howard University

BLK Wall Street Club Fellow

Greg entered the BLK ecosystem through the Wall Street Club Fellowship, BLK's sophomore development partnership with Roark Capital, where he built his foundation in valuation, LBOs, and deal case studies. In his freshman year, Greg landed a role at HPS Investment Partners in Origination and Capital Markets, where he modeled a $1.1 billion industrial services deal from intake to investment memo. Sophomore summer he earned a seat at Apollo Global Management in Hybrid Value, and will head to Blackstone's Tactical Opportunities group the following summer.

OLIVIA MAKOHA

University of Cambridge

Portfolio Manager

Olivia joined BLK as an Equity Research Trainee before progressing to Portfolio Manager, where she led a stock pitch team that advanced to the finals of BLK's NYC Conference. She built early finance exposure through spring programs at Jane Street, Lazard, Rothschild & Co, Point72, and Blackstone, alongside asset management experience at RBC BlueBay. Beyond BLK, Olivia served as Vice President of Oxford Women in Business and Partner at Oxford Alpha Fund, before earning a Summer Analyst role at Centerview Partners.

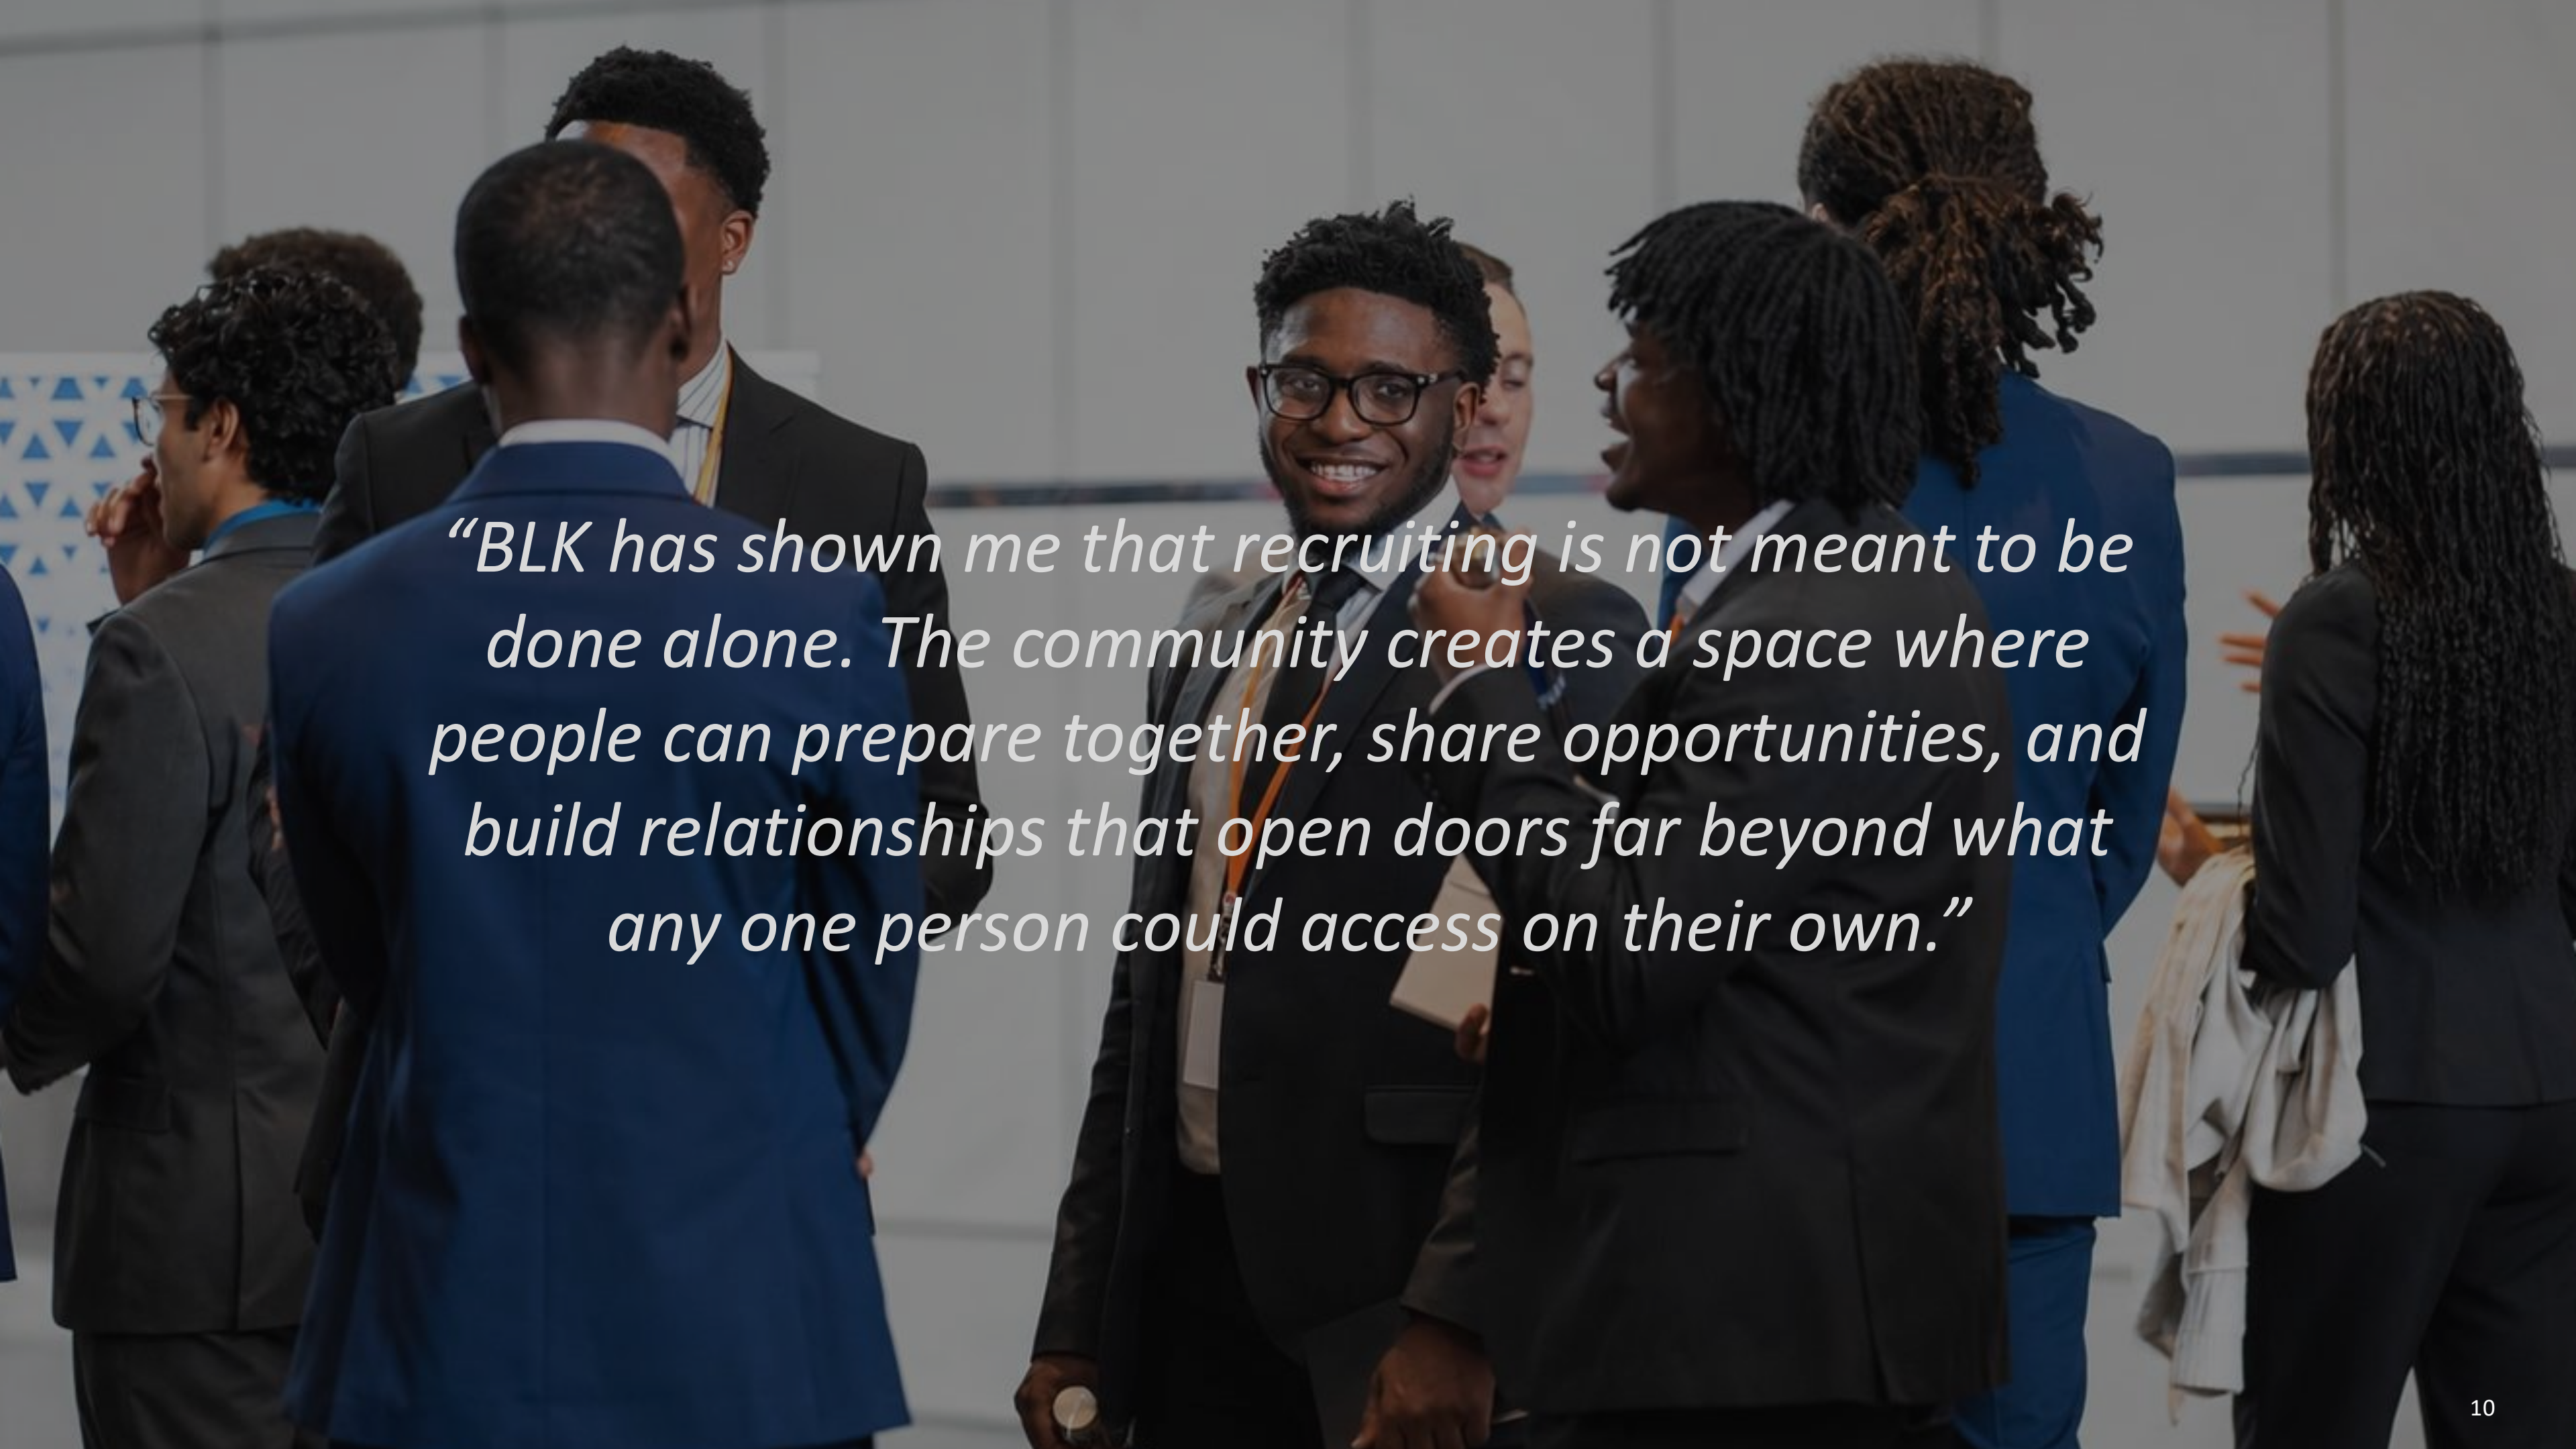

RUTH ABALO

University of Leeds

Former Head of EMEA, COO, and EVP

Ruth built BLK as a founding member of the EMEA region, helping establish the organization's presence at the University of Leeds before becoming Regional Founder and Head of EMEA. Under her leadership, BLK EMEA grew from a single chapter into a cross-country network, laying the foundation for BLK's international expansion. Alongside BLK, Ruth joined 11x, an AI-native startup backed by a16z, Benchmark, and HubSpot Ventures. She has also been recognized as the UK's Rank 2 Most Outstanding Future Leader and as a Bloomberg Women Who Inspire Award winner.

A group of diverse young professionals, including Black men and women, are gathered in a modern, brightly lit space, likely a conference or networking event. They are dressed in business attire, with several wearing blue blazers. One man in the center, wearing glasses and a dark suit, is smiling and looking towards the camera. Other individuals are engaged in conversations, some with their backs to the camera. The background is a light-colored wall with a subtle geometric pattern.

“BLK has shown me that recruiting is not meant to be done alone. The community creates a space where people can prepare together, share opportunities, and build relationships that open doors far beyond what any one person could access on their own.”
